Six Thousand Car-Loads of Water. melons.

ATLANTA, GA., May 31 .- Truck farming has become, during the past five years, one industries in Georgia. Mr. Joseph Taylor, General Freight Agent of the Savannah, Florida & Western railroad, says : "From reliable data furnished it is estimated that the crop of melons along the line of the road will reach for this season 3,000 to 3,500 car-loads." Without counting other points of culture it is safe to sav that Georgia will produce this year 6,000 car loads of melons or more than 7,500,-000 separate melons. The price of melon ranged in Chicago last year from 28 to 30 cents. Averaging the crop this year at 20 ceut, and putting 1,250 melons to the car, each car will be worth $250. This will make the crop worth $1,500,000. This amount of cash poured into the States in the middle of the dull summer will be of incalcuable benefit. How to get the crop to market is a serious problem. The shipments will begin about the middle of June and end about the middle of August. The bulk of it mus: be moved in forty days. This will give an average of 150 cars, or ten solid trains of fifteen cars each a day. The roads will be frequently called to move twenty full melon trains a day. It will take at least seven days for a train to reach the markets and return. We may expect, therefore, to see during the month of July 100 trains of fifteen cars each loaded with Georgia melons, and on the road to and from market. At the same time, cars will be needed at the melon stations to load for new trips. The facilities of the road are thought to be equal to the emergency. The truck and melons for the Eastern markets will find their way mainly by the ocean routes and the coast lines. The East Tennessee & Virginia and the Kennesaw & Air-Line routes will carry to the East whatever surplusage is offered. To accommodate the great rush to the Northwest there are three routes open -the Louisville & Nashville, the East Tennessee & State road, and each of these has provided special equipment.

Edison's Opposition.

NEW YORK, May 31-Another electric lighting company is on the tapis in this city. Negotiations have been going on for sometime between a few leading business men, and Edward H. Goff, President of the American Electric and Illuminating Company, of Boston, for the introduction of the Thomson-Houston system of electric lighting, and the organization of a strong company, with ample capital for that purpose, here in New York. Mr. Goff promises, in the event of the subscription to the stock of the company asked for, to guarantee a like amount by his company, when they would commence operations immediately on the construction of the plant. Mr. Goff is now in the city, and a conference with leading capitalists has been held which bids fair to lead to satisfactory results. A few months ago the Thompson-Houston system of electric lighting was unknown and unheard of here, but the superior qualities of the light and the great advantage which the system possesses over that of all other systems of arc lighting heretofore in use has been so rapidly developed by the American Electric and Illuminating Company during the past year in the principal cities of New England, where it is making a brilliant record, has attracted the attention of many of the leading business men here who are interested in this system of illumination, and believe in its ultimate victory over the gas interests of the country.

THE LILYS DIVORCE.

Obstacles to Effecting it in New York.

Opinions of Judges-Freddy Should Challenge the Law-Will the Langtry Remain in America?

NEW YORK, May 31 .- The World has been at pains to secure legal advice regarding the chances for Mrs. Langtry to secure a divorce in this country, and publishes the following opinions of eminent counsel:

Can Mrs. Langtry obtain a divorce from her husband? This question has been often asked since the announcement was made that the fair Jersey Lily intends to begin proceedings to that effect here in New York.

The statement that she was going to plead abandonment or desertion as a ground induced an inquiry whether it was a good plea.

WHAT THE JUDGES SAY. Judge Donohue, of the Supreme Court, in answer to a question, said:

"There is no such law. There is only one ground of divorce in this State. Of course there may be a separation from bet and board for abandonment or desertion, but such a separation does not break the marriage tie, and would not permit Mrs. Langtry to marry again."

"Would not Mrs. Langtry have to show that she has been a resident of the State for at least a year?"

"Has she ever had a legal domicile in this State?"

"Ah," replied the learned Judge with a twinkle in his eye, " now you are asking my opinion on a question of fact. I am willing to lay down the law for you, though you know what the saying is: 'Every-one is presumed to know the law, except the judges, and they require two lawyers in each case to tell them what the law is.'

"I can not express any opinion on a question of fact. Mrs. Langtry, you know. might begin proceedings in the Supreme Court, and as one of the Justices of that court I might be called upon to pass judgment on the facts of her domicile, cause of action, etc. I would first want to hear witness and counsel before giving my opinion."

IS NOT THE SHOE ON THE OTHER FOOT. Judge McAdam, of the Marine Court, said: "There is only one ground on which a divorce can be obtained in this State. The decree in such a case allows the complainant to remarry. A separation from bed and board may be had for abandonof the most important and remunerative ment or for cruel and inhumane treatment. industries in Georgia. Mr. Joseph Taythe abandonment must continue, for the bill of complaint may be filed as soon as "I very much doubt whether Mrs. Langtry can conscientiously say, much less prove, that her husband has deserted her. when she, of her own voluntary accord, abandoned the place of his domicile for a home among strangers."

"For how long a time must she be a resident of this State before she can begin her divorce proceedings?"

" For at least one year prior to the time of filing her complaint. She could scarcely claim that she intended in good faith to make this State her home while her acts show that her intention was to journey from place to place wherever an engagement as an actress was to be had." AN ACTOR'S RESIDENCE.

"How then could an actress who is almost constantly 'on the road' be domiciled in any State?" "An actor who once acquires a residence in this State does not lose it by a theatrical pilgrimage from place to place where he has no intention of changing his domicile, but where, as in the case of Mrs. Langtry, she has no fixed domicile in this country, she can scarcely acquire one as a bird of passage." "What effect would Mr. Gebhard's almost constant escort of her have upon her chance of succeeding in obtaining a divorce?"

"If a bill of separation were filed and a defense interposed Mr. Gebhard, while, perhaps, guilty of no act of impropriety. might at the solicitation of Mr. Langtry be required to explain why he has taken so much interest in an abandoned wife."

WHAT THE LEADERS OF THE BAR SAY.

"I think," said Roger A. Pryor, "that there is a mistake in the report that Mrs. Langtry is going to commence divorce proceedings in this State. She will have no success here, as she shows no cause of action, either for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii or from bed and board. The reporter may have intended to name another

"Is there any State in the Union where she could obtain an absolute divorce on the grounds she alleges?"

"Lord bless you, she need only to go over to Rhode Island and remain there twelve months to obtain her divorce. Let me read you the statute of that State on the subject. I wish you would give it in full, just to show how lax they are in that State in dissolving the holiest tie that man or woman can enter into. Perhaps your publication may lead to a very necessary reform in that respect."

"But how about her residence there?" "That is one of the most difficult things to disprove. Residence is made up of the act of living in a place and the intention of remaining there. Now, the act of living in a hotel, occupying a furnished room, etc., will show the living in a place, and as for the intention of remaining, the Court would have to take her word for it."

"She could change her intention on the day after she got her decree?"

"Assuredly."
Mr. Joseph H. Choate, of the firm of Evarts, Southmayd & Choate, said: "I am happy to say that I know nothing of the law of divorce. You will find plenty of other lawyers who make a specialty of that branch of the profession and who know all about it."

LONDON, May 31 .- The Marquis of Salis. bury made a long and important address at the Conservative demonstration at Bermondseye. He condemned the policy which had been pursued by the Administration in Egypt and South Africa, a policy which he said had accomplished nothing except to paralyze the local governments and make them inefficient, which is directly injuring commercial and Government influence at home.

He said the country was simply drifting in the absence of any real government.

LONDON, May 31 .- With reference to his motion in relation to the disposition of the surplus of the Alabama award, Kennard, M. P., writes to the Times to-day that he is still desirious of ventilating the subject. He says his desire is fortified by a firm conviction that the American press and Government have evinced an honorable wish to have the question finally settled.

LONDON, May 31 .- The following is the resolution relative to the disposition of the surplus of the Alabama ward, which Kennard intends to move in the Commons: That in view of the public utterances of eminent American statesmen with reference to the destination of the undistributed moneys resulting from the Geneva award, the House is of opinion that an exchange of views between the English and United States Governments on the subject would be conducive to a development of friendly relations between the two countries.

He stated that Lynch, alias Norman, who turned informer, had been permitted to give evidence for the Queen. He would describe the plans of the Fenian conspiracy which existed in America.

If the grand jury believed the prisoners were connected with that conspiracy they would return a true bill against them. Lynch's evidence, he said, would be fully corroborated by other witnesses.

The charge had been postponed for some days, while the Crown was deciding as to the exact nature of the indictment. A second indictment, he said, would be prepared against six of the prisoners, including Lynch, for having in their possession nitro-glycerine with intent to commit mur-

A Contest for a Boy.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31 .- Quite a contest is going on here for the custody of a bright little Arab boy now in charge of the Society to Protect Children from Cruelty. The boy's father, Andrea Tou-noos, was sent to jail some time ago for begging in the streets with the boy. He was released last Saturday, and has applied for the child, saying that he has plenty of money, and intended to return to his own country. On the other hand, the boy does not want to return to his father, and several persons have offered to educate him.

THE DRIDGE HORROR.

New York Paper Accounts of the Disaster.

NEW YORK, May 31 .- The leading topic of editorial discussion in all the metropolitan papers this morning is yesterday's catastrophe on the Brooklyn bridge.

The Sun says at the concluding paragraph of a long and thoughtful article:
"All practicable means of securing the highest degree of safety for passengers on the bridge must be adopted at once. If necessary, let travel and traffic there be suspended until the proper changes are made. Last Thursday it was a bridge of festivity, yesterday it was a bridge of death festivity, yesterday it was a bridge of death, thenceforth it must be a bridge of safeguards for life."

The World appears to lay the entire blame upon the unfortunates who are killed or maimed. "It was probably the most needless, foolish, unaccountable panic ever known. An instant's thought, a glance ought to have shown everybody that there was no danger and quieted all fears. No doubt the idle talk about the probable un-safety of the bridge working in the public mind was the true cause of the panic."

The Tribune concludes its article by say ing: "The Trustees and the men whom they had put in charge of the bridge have brought the structure to a magnificent completion, but if they are to be judged by yesterday's fatal blunder, they are wholly incompetent to take care of it. They must mend their way or retire. The people of both cities, knowing full well that such a tragedy as that of yesterday might readily have been prevented by proper care and foresight, will certainly hold the management to a severe account for their trust."

The Star likens the bloody baptism of the bridge to the butcheries in the arena which followed the victories of the Roman legions or other events conducive of popular rejoicing, and confesses that it finds it hard to speak calmly or temperately of yesterday's slaughter. It adds: "When a structure has cost $15,000,000, and is drawing $2,000 a day in tolls, there is no room or excuse for niggardliness in dealing with

The Herald, in its analysis of the causes of the disaster, finds that it was principally due to the absence of a police force, which the bridge trustees had abundant authority to employ and maintain.

From Previous Report.

NEW YORK, May 31 .- A fearful catastrophe occurred on the East River Bridge yesterday afternoon, by which a large number of people have lost their lives. The narrowness of the footway for passengers is the cause of the horror. The majority of the dead are so far unidentified. At about 4 o'clock the long line of people on foot in the center walk of the structure going from and coming to this city thickened, swelled, and stopped in its motion just at the stairs leading up from the conmen and feeble women, manhood and infancy were wedged together in that jam by the fearful pressure of the crowd, which extended miles, one might say, on either end of the line. It was a remorseless, fearful, stupid force that held its victims as immovable as the stone foundations of the bridge itself. The stoppage lasted nearly an hour, during which time scores of people fainted. To relieve the jam the bridge officals removed some of the iron paling a few feet from the stairway on the New York side, when, of course, those unfortunate enough to be near the opening, weak and fainting as they were, immediately fell helter skelter, heels over head, down on the jagged, gravely road beneath, a mass of bruised, discolored human flesh. Scores were trampled upon instantly, and to stumble was death. Men were dragged out of that heap of helpless humanity with faces blue as indigo, and the life blood trickling out of their nostrils; children and women pale, disheveled and dead. The roadway on either side of the walk was strewed with the dead and dying—a pitiable sight-and yet, it is said, no efforts were made by the bridge officials to stop people coming on the bridge.

The dead and dying were carried off in wagons, carts, etc., improvised on the moment for the service. Meanwhile teams were rushing both ways at full gallop over the roadway, threatening the limbs and lives of those on foot who were attempting to assist the unfortunate victims. At the Chambers Street Hospital are lying thirteen dead-six unknown men, six unknown women, and George Smith, of No. 42 Water street. The office was filled with people making frantic inquiries for missing friends, and with hysterical women. Two more of the dead, one a boy of fifteen years and the other a young woman, are lying at the city hall police station,

The scene in the City Hall Police Station was simply terrible. Women were screaming and wringing their hands, men with torn clothing and bleeding faces, and all around the forms of the wounded, most of them unconscious, lying beside the walls. Every now and again a frantic mother would rush in inquiring for some one lost, but there were none to answer her, for the revival of the insensible concerned all. Then the jangle of the ambulance bells added to the confusion, as wagon after wagon tore up to the door and the surgeons descended. A perfect stream of unconscious forms was borne into the station on stretchers, as the ambulances were filled and driven away.

"I was walking along the bridge toward the New York entrance," said a man who held a young girl by the hand who was crying bitterly, "when I heard shouting and screaming suddenly arise in front of me. Then I saw hats, sticks, and hands stretched aloft, and with one scream the whole dense mass surged and swayed toward the gates. I suppose the people thought the bridge was coming down. Anyway they fought, screamed and yelled like demons. Children and women were knocked down and trampled upon, and I was borne irresistibly out of the entrance. Then I found this little girl, who had lost her friends, and here we are, safe, thank God."

Mr. Merten, superintendent of the bridge, was seen by a reporter a few minutes after the accident. He said: "Five minutes before word came to my office about the catastrophe I received word, in answer to my inquiry, that everything was going on smoothly on the bridge, and that the pedestrians were moving along quietly. I certainly have no idea what caused the horrible tragedy, as various accounts have reached me. From four dsstinct sources I hear, however, that a panic was brought shout by a gang of pickpockets. The New York policemen had warned us to-day that thieves and .nko men were operating on the bridge. out as none of them were identified, of course we could do nothing. As soon as I heard of the crash, I ordered the roadways to be thrown open, and people are going across that way now."

It was not until the dead wagons came out that the public knew anything of the catastrophe. The wagons were followed off the bridge by women crying for their children, and men crying for their wives. Several of the women were half naked, and many had on only rags. One woman had both her shoes torn off and al-most all were bareheaded. There were hundreds of them disheveled and crying. Their faces were white, and in many instances were covered with dust

When the approach was cleared at last it was literally covered with articles of clothing and personal property abandoned in the struggle. They were viewed with amazement by the people coming over from Brooklyn who had not heard of the disaster. In the excitement of the crush Wm. Oxford, aged forty-five, a drunken man, deliberately jumped from the bridge approach into William street, and received severe internal injuries and external bruises. The place on the bridge where the accident occurred is the danger spot in the street.

SOME OF THE SICKENING SCENES.

The police joined the bridge officers in clearing a little space about the foot of the steps, and in dragging to one side from the mass of bodies the dead and the dying. Some crawled out by themselves. A company of the Twelfth New York Regiment worked hard at dragging them out. Seventy-five seemed to be nearly dead. They were laid along on the north and south sides of the pathway, and the people from Brooklyn passed on between them. Men and women turned faint! at the sight of the swollen and blood-stained faces of the dead Four men, a lad, six women and a girl of fifteen years were quite dead, or died in a few moments.

the Ohio Republican Convention Will Not be Postponed.

COLUMBUS, O., May 31 .- The meeting of he Republican State Central Committee called to discuss the advisability of postconing the State Convention, convened at he Neil House. The members present were Messrs. Hornberger, Cappetler, Kuhn, Culbertson, Jones, Vernon, Dremklis, Merrick, Brown and Conger. The Third, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Tenth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth, Nine-teenth and Twenty-first Districts were not represented. It was unanimously agreed that there should be no postponement of the State Convention from the date originally determined upon, June 5 and 6. Charley Hornberger was the only member who had assurance sufficient to even suggest that it would be the proper thing to postpone the convention until after the Supreme Court had passed upon the constitutionality of the Scott bills.

Inventors to the Front.

WASHINGTON, May 31 .- A special committee, consisting of officers of the Treasury Department, has been assigned the duty of examining a variety of seal locks with a view to selecting one that will afford greater security to the contents of bonded cars. Under the present system it is frequently difficult to definitely locate the point where a bonded car in transit from New York or Boston to Chicago was spened and the contents disturbed or abstracted. The necessity for improved seal locks is all the greater when bonded cars are taken through Canada and re-enter the United States at Detroit, Port Huron, Mich., or Duluth. Several very ingenious contrivances are being considered by the committee. One contains a clock-like mechanism, which makes it impossible for the lock to be opened either by picking or by the key without the fact being registered somewhat after the manner of the bellpunch used by street-car conductors. The interior of the lock is so arranged that the " movement" cannot be afterwards changed back to its former condition.

Another description of lock contains thin plates of glass over the keyhole, which are broken by the insertion of the key. A large number of the locks found to be the most practicable will be required for the leading railways engaged in forwarding imported goods. The Boston & Albany, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Erie and Grand Trunk roads will need many thousands of them.

Cincinnati Enquirer. "On Tuesday morning Jessie and I went shopping and met Walter Davis. He said he had just come from Harrodsburg. Miss Buckner told him where we were stopping and invited him to call His card was sent up about our lunch time, and when we emerged from the dining room he walked to the parlor with us. While we were there Miss Buckner excused herself to go down to the drug store and get some Apollinari water, and we went up to her room. Wa there harm in that? Walter Davis and I had known each other for years. Hi family and ours were on the most intimate terms. Although Wednesday was freakish in its showers of interspersing rain and sunshine, it was far from dampening the soldier's ardor for his departed comrades. Indeed the leaden sky with the quiet, gentle rain, seemed to be in unison with the harmonizing splift that pervaded the melancholy scene. Flowers were strewn over the graves of these departed spirits, who bravely fought in the battle for the noble and glorious cause of their country. Many were torn from the ties of devoted affection and happy homes, and stain on the bloody field of battle, their crowning laurels of reward, was the heroic death of the undaunted soldier. There were many who stood in the City of the Dead on Wednesnay afternoon, and as the musicians entered with true patriotic spirit into the feelings of the glorious occasion, and as the band struck up the military march into battle, with drum, fife and bugle. To many it vividly brought forth to their mind the bloody seene of battle, and the inspiriting music thrilled the soldier wife's heart with patriotic enthusiasm. They felt the sacrifice of life was amply rewarded in the maintaining of the Union. And there was patriotic grandeur in their victorious death.

"From the silence of sorrowtul hours, The desolate mourners go," no protest against my going, but rather insisted upon it, and made the significant remark that she was a sound sleeper, and it might be hard to wake her when wo returned. I away to the significant returned. I away to the significant remark that she was a sound sleeper, and it might be hard to wake her when wo some one in there. Come to my room and sit by my fire.' The day was cold and it had been snowing during the afternoon and night. I accompanied Mr. Davis to his apartment as entirely innocent of any wrong. He turned up the gas and we cha ted by the fire for, perhaps, an hour. As God is my judge Walter Davis is not guilty of any wrong. We had hard work the second time to get into Jessie's room, but at last she got up and let me in. The story that I fell helpless on the floor is a falsehood. I took off my WALTER EVANS, the new Internal jewels, put them in my jewel case, placed all on my account. Early the next morning I took the train for Harrodsburg and chatted pleasantly with a number of lady friends whom I met en route. This

"Do you think there was any one in Jessie Buckner's room the night of the occurrence at the St. Clair, Mrs. Thomp-

"I most certainly do, and I know who it was, but I dare not reveal the name." Mrs. Thompson spoke in the kindest terms of Phil Thompson, sen., and his wife, whom she said had ever treated her John Thompson she declared were authors of all the trouble. " I feel sorry for THE Fred Douglass call for a national Phil. I didn't want him punished, but I sultied and an innocent man held guilty of a henious crime." in consequence two white women, one negro woman and a negro man have been arrested on suspicion. The latter is said Garden street this afternoon, the service to have resided on Tuckahoe Ridge in to be conducted by Rev. Dr. Hanna and tnis county. It is known that Boyd had visited a house where these people were early in the evening and had had a difficulty with some of them, but no positive proof has been obtained that they had anything to do with Boyd's death. There is much excitement at Ripley, and a strong disposition to solve the mystery.

THE Mt. Sterling Sentinel gives the following particulars of the wounding of Mr. Thos. Clark, formerly of this county, during the recent attack on the jail at that place:

Thos. Clark was wounded in the 'eg by a Spencer rifle ball and the same ball killed his horse. The horse was found dead at the corner of the court house yard opposite the Episcopal church, about forty yards from the jail. On Saturday the leg of Mr. Clark was amputated below the knee, and he has paid dearly for being out so late. He says that he was not one of the mob, but being in town expecting his wife to return on the train from Lexington, where she had been visiting, that he was passing at the time of the firing. After her was shot he asked some of the men to assist him home, and they started with him and carried him as far as the residence of T. T. Pagers, on High street, and there they lett. He does not know the men. Mr. Clark is a young man of excellent reputation. He moved from Mason county about two years ago to a farm four miles from this city, on Grassy Lick, which he bought of W. A. Hood, and he is held in high esteem by his neighbors. In the jail yard four ropes were found and two of them had hangman's knots. A mber of stray horses were found about the 7. The men composing the mob are suped to have come from Menifes county, "e all the men live who are engaged in rouble, but it is probable that some citiof this county were along.

THE CINCINNATI LEDGER.

Cincinnati's New Daily-Its Politics Will be Republican.

CINCINNATI, May 31 .- The new daily that will be started here some time in June will be called The Cincinnati Daily Ledger, and in politics it will be Republican. Commodious quarters have been secured for its offices, presses ordered, and arrangements made for the securing or complete news facilities. It is said that a franchise in the Western Associated Press was offered the new paper at a very low price compared with the fancy figures is the son of Mr. R. H. Garrett, of Port by the newpaper on the ground that it could secure better and later news through other sources. A franchise has been purchased in the same association that is furnishing many of the best papers in Ohio and adjoining States with telegraphic news, and on the score of facilities for furnishing dispatches the Ledger will enjoy every advantage.

Another Telephone Improvement. NEW YORK, May 31.—Bargains are ourly made by telephone in this city, but no evidence of them is preserved. The elephone makes two a company, but has no place for a third, so there is neither ecord nor witness of what is said. Science, owever, seems ready to afford a means of cetting legal evidence of telephonic transctions through photography. The fact of photographing sound variations has been accomplished, and it may yet be applied to the telephone. The shadow of the vibratng plate is caught, and the curves it nakes vary according to the sounds ttered, the vowel curves being simple, and he consonant curves being more complex. Here is the nucleus of a genuine phonog-aphy, which may yet add to the wonders of the telephinic age.

SUNDAY RAILROADING.

DETROIT, May 31.—The following letter from H. B. Ledyard, President of the Michigan Central, in reply to queries propounded by Mr. E. H. Talbott. of the Railway Age, is decidedly interesting, as being a hearty indorsement from a high source of the action taken by Colonel Bennett H. Young, President and General Manager of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railway, on the Sunday question as related to railroads:

To the Editors of the Railway Age:

I have your letter of May 11 relative to the action recently taken by the President of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railway Company in ordering the suspension of all trains upon the Sabbath day, and note your request that I shall reply to certain questions as stated in your letter.

1. If all railroad companies competing for the same class of traffic from and to common points, were in accord, it would be practicable to a very large extent to abandon the running of railway trains on the Sabbath day. The chief difficulty is, that in these days of sharp competition time has become such an important element that if one railroad company would voluntarily cease its traffic for one day during the week, while others continue, it would lose largely thereby. Yet, for example, were each of the trunk lines to absolutely refuse to exchange traffic of any kind with their connections, from 6 p. m. Saturday until Monday morning, it would be a simple matter for these trunk lines, as well as for their Western connections, to so arrange the movement of traffic as to practically do away with the running of Sunday trains.

2. There is no question as to the desirability of prohibiting Sunday work on railways. The law of nature, to say nothing of the higher law, requires that men should have rest one day in seven. Is there any reason why a railway engineer or conductor is not entitled to his rest as much as a merchant or manufacturer?

3. This company has endeavored to so arrange the runs of its trainmen and engineers as to bring them home on Sunday, but little can be done in that direction without the concerted action on the part of all companies interested in the same

4. I do not believe at the end of the year the loss in traffic would be appreciable were all Sunday work stopped, and in the better morale of the men the railway companies would be abundantly paid for doing away with work on this day.

5. While the public would no doubt at first be dissatisfied at the cessation of Sunday work, and would claim injury thereby in the matter of detention to freight and delay to mails, it is difficult to see how much injury could really exist, were the practice of doing away with Sunday work made uniform on all roads. As an example, at one time it was thought necessary for each of the roads to run a train from Chicago Sundays; after a while this was changed so that a train left each Sunday on one only of the three roads. This scaused at first some dissatisfaction, but it soon passed away and the result of the experiment, so far as I have been able to learn, was entirely satisfactory

Looking at the question from either a moral or economical standpoint, no candid person can uphold the running of trains on Sunday. What is there in the business of a railroad company different from any other business, which will require an exception to be made of it and its employes to work when others are allowed and expect rest?

The effect of this constant aud neverending work is not injurious to the men themselves, but most deplorable to their families. If it is true, as Lord Bacon says, that a man who has a family has given a hostage to fortune, it is equally true that he should be allowed to live at least part of his time with those for whom he has to care, and certainly should have at least one day in every seven, which under our system of railway labor he can not have, to devote to his own and private matters.

To bring about a cessation of Sunday work now would be much less difficult than it would have been a few years since. All over the country railroad companies are grouping themselves into as-sociations for the exchange of traffic, the maintenance of rates and the better carrying out of agreements, such as, for example, the trunk line committee, the joint executive committee, the southwestern railway association, and may others. If these companies can come together on short notice to arrange for any and all questions of mutual interest, it would be a simple matter were this question of Sunday work properly considered, to bring about a reform in the same.

I am glad you have taken the matter up for I believe if it is presented to our managers in its best light, whether from a meral or economical standpoint, a few moments' reflection will show to each of them that we are all committing a fearful 'mistake in allowing the continuance and rapid growth of this Sunday work. Yours H. B. LEDYARD, President.

Tramps Can Afford to Pay Such Fares.

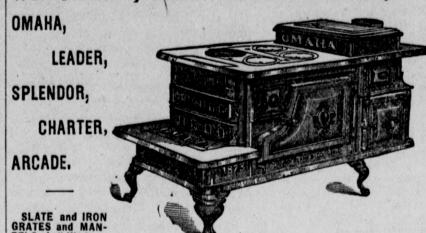

CHICAGO, May 31 .- The war on passenger rates west to Omaha, Kansas City, etc., has gone down to bed rock, tickets being sold at fifty cents in some cases. This probably proves that the end of the war is not far distant. The recent cut by the Rock Island to Kansas City and St. Joe is the excuse made by the Burlington folks for their action. The Omaha Road, which, under the leadership of President Porter, was the cause of the big fight last season, is now being gored itself, and in turn the Northwestern Railroad is looking for some means of retaliating or getting even with its formidable rival, the St. Paul & Milwaukee Road.

JOILET, ILL., May 31 .- Terrible shricks and cries from cell No. 13 startled the teepers of the State Penitentiary last sight. On Trushing to the cell they found John Anderson clinging to the bars of the loor, his throat cut from ear to ear, and slood pouring from a half dozen wounds in the back. He died almost immediately. His fellew convict, Michael Mooney, is a lesperate fellow, and it is believed that he attacked Anderson in his sleep. The mysterious part of the affair is that no knife or other weapon was found in the cell. An investigation will be held.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs : none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured. "In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER." Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup. - A Mother's Tribute. "While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.
